Michigan
- (1) State issues new birth certificate and does not require surgery or a court order
- (0.5) State allows individuals to mark M, F, or X on birth certificate
- State formerly required proof of sex reassignment surgery in order to change gender marker (see Mich. Comp. Laws Ann. § 333.2831(c) (2006)). In February 2021, the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services (MDHHS) formally requested guidance from the state’s Attorney General regarding the constitutionality of that requirement. In June 2021, the Attorney General issued Opinion 7313, finding that the requirement was unconstitutional. In July 2021, the state published a new process allowing for self-attestation with no requirement of medical documentation or a court order. See also Sex Designation Form, including “X” options.

Minnesota
- (1) State issues new birth certificate and does not require surgery or a court order
- (0) State only allows residents to identify as male or female

Mississippi

- See Ohio Department of Health’s website (2021) and ACLU of Ohio’s FAQ for X option info. See also Form 30.0 “Application for Correction of Birth Record” (Aug 2021) to initiate court order.
- Prior to 2016, state (0.5) updated gender markers with a court order, consistent with state’s statutory process for other birth certificate changes. Beginning in 2016, state (-1) refused to change gender markers even under court order. This policy was ruled unconstitutional in Ray v. McCloud (Dec 2020), and the state announced in April 2021 that it would not challenge the ruling. The current policy (0.5) was announced in May 2021.

Oklahoma
- (-1) State does not allow for amending the gender marker on the birth certificate at all
- (0) State only allows residents to identify as male or female
  - Note: the state issued its first nonbinary marker in Oct 2021, but the state’s Governor then issued Executive Order 2021-24 (Nov 2021) to prevent such options.
- Previously, Oklahoma had unclear, unknown, or unwritten policy regarding gender marker changes on birth certificates (0). In Oct 2021, the state’s Department of Health formalized a process for these changes (requiring a court order (0.5)) including the option of a nonbinary gender marker, all as part of a settlement in a federal lawsuit. In Nov 2021, the state’s Governor issued Executive Order 2021-24, not only preventing nonbinary options but also any changes of sex/gender markers on birth certificates (-1).

Oregon
- (1) State issues new birth certificate and does not require surgery or a court order

Washington
- (1) State issues new birth certificate and does not require surgery or a court order
- (0.5) State allows individuals to mark M, F, or X on birth certificate
- See the Washington Department of Health’s policy
West Virginia
- (-1) State does not allow for amending the gender marker on the birth certificate at all
- (0) State only allows residents to identify as male or female
- State clearly allows for gender updates with a court order (see W. Va. Code § 16-5-25, § 64-32-12), but State Supreme Court of Appeals ruled in In re: G.M. (June 2020) that courts do not have the authority to order state’s Department of Health & Human Resources to change the gender marker on a birth certificate, in effect disallowing gender marker changes entirely. This ruling is being appealed by the ACLU in Hersom v. Crouch (filed August 2021). See also this coverage.
  - For info on previous policy/process, see also WV Department of Health & Human Resources “Correcting a Birth Certificate” page, and NCTE’s state page

Wisconsin

U.S. Territories

American Samoa
- (0) Territory has unclear, unknown, or unwritten policy regarding gender marker changes
- (0) Territory only allows residents to identify as male or female
- "The High Court of American Samoa has held that the alteration of a birth certificate is granted only to correct information that was erroneous at the time of recordation, or to reflect a name change due to adoption." NCTE reports anecdotal cases of successfully updating gender markers on birth certificates, but there is no clear policy for doing so.

Guam
- (-1) Territory requires proof of “sex reassignment surgery” to change gender marker
- (0) Territory only allows residents to identify as male or female
- "In order to update the gender marker on a birth certificate, the requestor must provide a sworn statement from the physician having performed the surgery, thus certifying the sex of the requestor has been changed by surgical procedure."
Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands

- (0.5) Territory is unclear regarding surgical/clinical requirements and/or requires a court order
- (0) Territory only allows residents to identify as male or female
- “In order to change a legal name on a birth certificate, the applicant must provide a court order for legal name and gender marker change to the Vital Statistics Office Division of Public Health.”

Puerto Rico

- (1) Territory issues new birth certificate and does not require surgery or a court order
- (0) Territory only allows residents to identify as male or female
- See Arroyo v. Rosselló (2018) or NCTE for more information.

U.S. Virgin Islands

- (0) Territory has unclear, unknown, or unwritten policy regarding gender marker changes
- (0) Territory only allows residents to identify as male or female
